

STAVE PIPE JUST AS ENDURABLE.City Engineer Kelsey Disapproves of the Moran Contract.

LOSS OF NEARLY $10,000.

Council Offers Action Until Friday
Evening, When Other Matters
Will Also Be Considered.

The city engineer and board of public works are at odds; at least those are the surface indications. It came about over the board's action in letting the contract for laying new and larger water mains in the eastern part of the city to P. J. Moran.

Mr. Kelsey takes the position that Mr. Moran's bid was not the lowest; that there was no thought of having anything but wooden stave pipe in the line designated in the specifications, and the contract should have been let to the lowest bidder on that basis.

At last evening's Council meeting the board authorized the city solons of the board in awarding the contract and asked for their approval. In that connection the following communication was received from City Engineer Kelsey:

To the Honorable President and City Council of Salt Lake City:

Gentlemen:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 6th inst. regarding the contract for laying water pipe.

The plan for this work recommended by me to the City Council contemplated the use of some twelve-inch and six-inch wooden stave pipe on the upper part of two of the lines where the pressure is light and where there are no connections. In this part of the work the wooden stave pipe is as good as the iron and would save the city nearly $10,000. For this reason I recommend its use.

The lowest bid submitted on this plan is $59,250. It is within the estimate and is in accordance with the lowest bid by any of the bidders for their proposals. Mr. Moran's bid on this plan is $61,114.10.

Cast iron pipe was substituted for stave pipe and the contract awarded for $82,500. This contract is not in accordance with my plans and recommendations and it exceeds the estimate and the amount authorized for this work over 14 per cent.

In the lowest bid submitted over 14 per cent of the amount of the contract is for wooden stave pipe, the balance being for cast iron, and on this part of the work alone there is a saving of over $9,000.

Wooden stave pipe has been used all over the western part of the United States, and where it was properly constructed it has given entire satisfaction and it is recommended by engineers who have investigated thousands of miles of pipe and are informed as to its durability. It has been used in this State in the Ogden city waterworks, the pipelines of the Pioneer Power company in Glen Canyon, the Mt. Nebo irrigation system and in Parley's canyon. It is a well-known fact that wood, if kept thoroughly soaked with water, will decay and this is true of the wooden stave used in the pipe. Some of the most extensive masonry structures in the world, such as buildings and bridges, are built on wooden pile foundations.

On the other waterworks improvements ordered by the City Council, the City Engineer and the Board of Public Works have been largely in excess of the estimate, and the city was forced either to pay exorbitant prices for this work or to have it delayed. On the present contract for furnishing and laying water pipe there were outside bidders, with the result that the lowest bid was below the estimate. It is unfair to solicit bids from outside parties, as has been done in this case, and after they have gone to considerable trouble and expense in submitting their proposals to reject the lowest bid and award the contract to a local man at a higher price.

Respectfully,

F. C. KELSEY, City Engineer.

GOES OVER TILL FRIDAY.

Upon motion of Robertson the matter was made the order for a special meeting Friday evening, at which time the finance committee will report on a cash raising plan.

HIGH SCHOOL.

Five Students Chosen to Represent Class of 1900.

The class of 1900 of the Salt Lake High School is very busy arranging the program for commencement, to be held about June 1st.

While this year's class is not so large as that of last year, it occupies just as high a standard of scholastic excellence.

It has been the custom heretofore for the teachers to choose the representatives of the graduating class, but a change has been made, and it is now the prerogative of the class itself. In accordance with that privilege, the class has selected the following five students to represent it: Pearl Vetter, Brown and Alice Olson, of the English department; John Turner and Nellie Gay of the scientific department.

In addition to the orations and essays there will be other features of the program, in which the entire class will participate.

SMOOTH YOUNG GRAFTER.

Claims to Have Been Injured at Scofield and Asks for Money.

This morning Officer Smith arrested William Brown, aged 19, on the charge of vagrancy. Brown has been ambulating down the streets pretending to be lame claiming he was injured in the Scofield explosion, and asking for assistance. The young fellow never saw Scofield in his life, and the sight of a coal car and a shovel would almost cause him to faint.

EDUCATION ON THE FARM.

Local Farmers' Societies Needed for Mutual Benefit.

Mr. John Hansen, an old and experienced farmer of Riverport, Salt Lake county, in a communication to the Deseret News urges the need of the farmers of the State organizing into local societies for mutual aid and educational improvement. They should meet frequently, he says, in their local societies and study and discuss the questions of supply and demand; what grows and how to produce it; what labor and cost. These questions can be answered only by the experienced and intelligent farmer.

Much loss can be avoided by diffusing such information through the farmers' societies. Every man could give his experience, as all are teachers and all are students. A single word may turn failure into success. When to plant, when to plant, when to plant, and how to plant; and how and when to cultivate and irrigate; how to rid the soil of weeds, how to utilize all products, as straw, chaff, etc.; how to turn the sweets of field and flower into the cup from which man sips; how to care for fowls and cattle, vine and tree and machinery; and all things that lead to a better state for tiller of the soil, are subjects that could be very profitably considered by the farmers of every community, that an increased intelligence may be brought to bear upon the work of the farm.

CLERK AND INSPECTOR, TOO

Councilman Cottrell Favors Increasing Duties of Mr. Whittaker.

Resolution Requiring Him to Inspect All Public Works Adopted—Last Night's Meeting.

John M. Whittaker, the recently appointed clerk of the board of public works, is known to have a good deal of work to do; but the City Council evidently desires him to do more as the adoption of a resolution at last evening's meeting indicates. His appointment, in addition to the regular clerical duties, carried with it the duties of inspector. Last evening the board of public works sent the salary claims of a number of inspectors of work now being done under its direction. The reading of these claims caused Councilman Cottrell to enquire, "What is the clerk of the board doing?"

The reply he received was not satisfactory so later in the evening he offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

"Whereas, at a recent session of the City Council the board of public works were authorized to employ a clerk at a salary of $75 per month, and

"Whereas, it was the understanding of said Council that said clerk act as inspector for said board; therefore be it

Resolved, That the said clerk of public works be instructed to carry out the desire of the Council and have said clerk inspect all public works."

Speaking to the motion to adopt Cottrell said when the clerk was appointed to inspect the said public works he was instructed to carry out the desire of the Council and have said clerk inspect all public works.

Robertson voted against the resolution, and in explaining his vote said it was absurd for anyone to imagine that the clerk could inspect all the vast improvements that would be undertaken by the board of public works.

He further said the resolution was ridiculous and not worthy of serious consideration. The resolution was adopted. Beatty, Robertson, Thomas and Buckle voting no, and eight voting aye. Gemmell, Hartenstein and Tuddenham were absent from the council chamber when the vote was taken.

YOUNG GIRL ARRESTED.

Ellen Blundquist Accused of Grand Larceny—She Denies the Charge.

Last night Chief Hilton and Detective Sheets arrested Ellen Blundquist, a good looking young girl, on the serious charge of grand larceny, and she is now detained at the station awaiting an investigation. The girl has been employed at the home of Mrs. Batford, No. 177 north West Street, and she is accused of stealing a gold watch and chain and a number of valuable rings from that lady.

Ellen has only been employed at Batford's for about a week, but in that time several small articles have mysteriously disappeared. The girl was at once suspected, but nothing was done in the matter until last evening, when the loss of the watch and rings was discovered. Ellen was accused directly of the theft, but emphatically denied the charge. Efforts were made to induce the girl to confess, but she stuck out until the last. Even when part of the stolen property was located in the room occupied by her, she disclaimed all knowledge of it. The watch was finally found under the mattress on Mrs. Batford's bed. Ellen will have a hearing on the charge of grand larceny. She came here from Sweden and has no relatives here.

TWO ROUNDS WERE
Out.

CHOYNSKI GAME AS EVER.

He Tried Hard to Respond in the Third, but Fell Helplessly to the Floor.

Chicago, May 8.—Tom Sharkey at Tattersall's tonight knocked out Joe Choynski of California in two rounds. The fighting was of the hurricane order, both men landing repeatedly, but Sharkey had the fight well in hand throughout. The knockout blow was a left jolt to the jaw, just as the bell sounded for the end of the second round. Choynski tried to respond when the third round was called, but when he attempted to rise he fell over on his back to the floor and Referee Malachy Hogan awarded the fight to Sharkey.

The men met for a six-round go at catch weights. Choynski weighed 165 and the sailor 155. Tom O'Rourke, Bob Armstrong and Jack Root were in Sharkey's corner. Choynski's interests were looked after by the Schreese family. The betting ranged at 3 to 1 that Choynski would keep the six rounds, and even money that Sharkey would win out on a knockout.

When they came to the center for the first round Sharkey immediately started hostilities and did not give Choynski a moment's rest for the entire three minutes, slugging his face all over the ring and knocking Joe down twice. Sharkey himself tripped down twice near the end of the round from the force of his own blows, but finished the round in good shape, while Choynski was plainly suffering from Sharkey's terrific bombardment of the stomach.

In the second round Choynski tried to keep away, but Sharkey kept coming persistently and forced his opponent to make a stand. Choynski landed several stinging lefts to the marine's face, but the latter paid little attention to the blows and kept boring in with all his strength. The blow Sharkey was landing on the Californian bore him down gradually, and the latter was unable to protect himself in the exchanges, but when sent to the floor he would not take advantage of the count, but would jump up just as soon as he hit the floor.

Finally Sharkey, in one of the mix-ups, got a straight right to the stomach, which doubled his adversary up. Then the sailor became like a madman and lunged at Choynski, forcing his slender opponent on the ropes. Choynski tried to fight back, but he was too weak, and after withstanding the hardest kind of punishment finally succumbed.

Sharkey was well pleased with the result and danced a jig as Choynski was being counted out.

After six rounds of moderate fighting Jim Hall, the old-timer Australian, was given the decision over Tom Scanlan of Pittsburgh. In one of the preliminaries.

Billy Stiff and Barney Connors fought six fast rounds to a draw.

HAVE LOCKED HORNS.

Jeffries and Corbett Cannot Agree Upon a Referee.

New York, May 8.—The Herald says: James J. Jeffries and James J. Corbett have locked horns over the selection of a referee for their battle at the Seaside Sporting club, Coney Island on Friday night. Jeffries wants "Charlie" White to officiate, while Corbett insists upon the appointment of Sam Austin. Unless the principals come to an understanding in the meantime there is apt to be quite a wrangle at the ring-side over the matter.

"When the match was made," Corbett said, "W. A. Brady, Jeffries' manager, suggested Austin for referee. I wanted Tim Hurst to officiate but as Brady would not accept any man but Austin I agreed. Now for some reason, but known to himself Jeffries wants Charlie White to be referee. If Austin was good enough for Jeffries when the match was made he certainly is good enough now."

When the attention of Wm. A. Brady was called to Corbett's statement last night, he said:

Jeffries wants White as referee. Personally I would as soon have Austin officiate but the champion believes that White is better qualified for the position and he refuses to accept anybody else."

Many stories have been told in regard to the bout between Corbett and Jeffries to have at Carson City, when the present champion was acting as Corbett's sparring partner. Corbett has always claimed that he used to knock Jeffries out whenever he wanted to do so. In the other hand, Jeffries says that Corbett never put him to sleep. In view of this difference of opinion, a statement from Billy Delaney, who has trained both men for championship battles, is interesting. Delaney says that Jeffries' version of the bout is correct.

"Corbett," continued Delaney, "never knocked out the beller-maker. Although Jeffries had but little experience at the time he used to box with Corbett at Carson, he made very creditable exhibitions with the then champion."

Both Corbett and Jeffries put on the semi-final touches for the contest at their respective training quarters yesterday. John Considine, one of Corbett's backers went down to Lakewood yesterday to see the former champion at work, and he was very much impressed with Corbett's appearance. He said: "Jim is as strong a man today as when he fought Sullivan, and he will beat Jeffries sure. In his fight with Fitzsimmons, Jim was over trained; he worked too hard; now he is just right, and if he doesn't surprise Jeffries on Friday night I'll miss my guess."
